ELLIOT INSTITUTE

The Trustees of Elliot Institute hereby make report of activities during the year 1922-23.

Three entertainments were arranged for the season. Two of these have been given and on February 16 the final lecture of the course will be presented. On May 19 Elliot Institute was inaugurated with an illustrated lecture by Mr. Herbert W. Gleason. His subject was "Monadnock and its surroundings." The hall was filled to its capacity and the occasion was one of large interest. The presence of the founder of the Institute added much to the satisfacton of the occasion. "The Players" company of Boston gave a concert on October 19. Again the house was filled and the program thoroughly enjoyed by those present. We are confident that the remaining lecture will be a fitting close to the work of the season.

Elliot Institute has had an auspicious opening year and its results have amply justified the large vision of its founder. To unite the town in these three high grade entertainments means much in developing a true community spirit.

Respectfully submitted,

REV. A. W. HOWES,
FRANCIS R. PARKER,
WALTER R. PORTER,

Elliot Institute Trustees.

It has been very satisfying to have more money to spend for books this past year, and it will be noticed that the circulation has increased.

In the death of Miss Charlotte Bigelow, we regret the loss of the efficient librarian of our Depot Branch but we hope soon arrangements will be made for its continuance.

Extra copies of the pamphlet containing a full description of the proceedings of the dedication of the library building can be obtained of the librarian at the library for ten cents per copy.

We would again respectfully call the attention of our citizens to the provisions of Chapter 50 of the Session Laws of New Hampshire, passed at the January session of our Legislature in 1917, in relation to the establishment and maintenance of the State and all other public libraries.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Members of Fitzwilliam School Board:

I herewith submit to you my fifth annual report as Superintendent of Schools, the twenty-third of the series under district supervision.

At the close of the last school year we were fortunate in retaining the services of Principal Tufts of the Junior High School, Miss Doyle of the Columbian Primary and Miss Blodgett of Dist. No. 10, and Mr. Harry W. Davis of Marlboro, who had charge of the junior high music after the Christmas vacation of last year has had charge of the music in the Junior High, Village and Depot schools.

Miss Hazel Hegner, a graduate of Simmons College was secured as assistant in the Junior High, Miss Woodbury and Miss Barrett, graduates of Keene Normal as teachers in the Village and Columbian intermediate schools, Miss Goodhue, a teacher of successful experience in the Village primary, and Miss Winship at State Line.

The Junior High school has retained its large membership of last year. Eight pupils were graduated from Grade IX in June, and fifteen entered Grade VII in September. The enrollment for the Fall term was 39, average membership, 38.35 and the average attendance 38.06. There were no tardy marks during the Fall term and only 15 during the school year 1921-22, as against 50 the previous year. When we note that during the school year 1917-18, with an enrollment of 32 there were 109 tardy marks, the present high percentage of attendance and freedom from tardiness is rather remarkable. In fact the percentage for all the schools of Fitzwilliam, showing an increase from 94.2% for the school year 1920-21 to 97.22% for the first term of the present year, and the decrease in the number of tardinesses from 353 to 183, indicates not only care on the part of our teachers but interest on the part of the pupils. The Columbian intermediate school with a percentage of over 99 has made the best individual showing of any school not only in Fitzwilliam but in the 28th supervisory union, and the Junior High and Columbian primary with over 98% of attendance have surpassed all other schools in the four towns.

This is the fourth year of the present organization of the Junior High school and the growth in membership and the high percentage of attendance are the strongest possible endorsements of the present standing of the school. The high standing of the last two graduating classes in the work they have done in the Keene High school is such as to call for special mention in the report of the state inspector of secondary schools.

The State inspector in his report of the work during the first term of the present year speaks highly of the spirit of co-operation built up in this school. In commenting on a recitation in algebra in grades VIII and IX he says: "All the pupils were working on different problems at their own rate, each pupil choosing the type of problem causing him the most difficulty. One or two pupils who appeared to understand the work were free when they had completed their own work to assist the others. Every pupil was busy and all the work was actually supervised by the instructor."

In speaking of the general condition of the school he adds: "I was pleased to note the spirit of cooperation manifested by the pupils before school began. The girls dusted not only the teachers' desks, but the pupils' desks and seats. The different pupils who entered the school room before the school began took their seats and studied. There was no rough, boistrous talk or play. During the day the pupils behaved in a quiet and orderly manner. They appeared to take great interest in their work and displayed a marked spirit of cooperation."

The work of the elementary schools has shown encouraging progress. Many recitations have been carefully noted and the work compared with other schools having the same grades, and daily written work and occasional test papers taken for comparison have been used as a basis for examination of the progress of the several grades.

It is important for us as teachers to remember that clear presentation and continuous drill should be our common practice, and that no work, either written or oral should be accepted from a pupil unless it represents the best that the pupil is able to do. The moment that we accept less than the best the pupils will begin to relax and to tender much less than their best. We believe that the progress of the individual and not the group should be our chief concern, and we should be alert to attend not only to the slower pupils but to encourage and promote the ambitious and able ones.

Some of the standardized tests in English, spelling and geography have been used and reading tests have been given throughout the grades twice each year. We have not gone into these very heavily, however, partly on account of the expense required for the material and partly because I believe that better results can be secured from short papers written covering a section of work completed than by filling out printed forms that allow two or three choices. Pupils should be required not only to give oral reports of work before the class but to be able to write neat and readable reports using good English and correct spelling.

In the matter of discipline it is essential to bear in mind that no teaching of civics or duties regarding citizenship can be effective except as these duties are shown in accomplishment and behavior. A school meets proper standards when the pupils and teachers are courteous upon the streets, orderly in the halls and upon the playgrounds and industrious in the school room.

It is a matter of considerable satisfaction to note the results obtained from the continued work in music under special supervision. In comparing the results obtained in the Fitzwilliam schools during the past few years with communities that dropped such special instruction I believe the results secured in this town fully justify the comparatively small expenditure for such instruction.

The amount expended for repairs during the past year has been rather small. A new stove has been secured for the State Line school, the walls and ceiling in the high school freshened and other minor repairs were made during the summer vacation.

The sanitary conditions in the rooms in the Village schools are not satisfactory. The floors are in poor shape, the hall is dark and drafty, and the toilet facilities are inadequate. A village school should have ample playground space, but no proper place is available near the town hall.

The amount of State Aid for the present school year is $4,800, the same as last year. If the present law remains unchanged on the rating for teachers this year the allowance another year should be considerably over $5,000. With the large amount required for transportation and the present cost of maintenance of the schools Fitzwilliam ought to receive considerably more than this amount from the equalization fund.

Some increases have been necessitated during the winter season in transportation and there is no immediate prospect of any decrease.

Other expenses for the coming year will be approximately the same as for the present year. Fuel is at present the most uncertain item and no reliable forecast for another year can be made at present. Salaries cannot vary very much in the near future. These expenses are the same this year as last, and if competent teachers are to be secured no reduction in this item can be considered.

The coming year should be one of progress. The results already attained should encourage us to secure still better results. The children of this town are the best asset of Fitzwilliam, and to the development of this asset we should devote every energy.

In closing I wish to thank the members of the school board, parents, teachers and pupils for the loyal support and co-operation given me during the past year.

Very truly yours,

LEWIS S. RECORD,

Superintendent of Schools.
